'NO DANZIG GRAB' BRITAIN WARNS

LONDON, May 11—Prime Minister Chamberlain said today that any attempt "to change the (Danzig) situation by force" so as to "threaten Polish independence would inevitably start a general war in which Britain would be involved."

SOMETHING NEW . . . Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts daintily tries on her new straw bonnet, the first lady in Congress to follow the fashion dictates of summer.

Chamberlain said:

"In many minds the danger spot in Europe today is Danzig where our assurances to Poland are clear and concise. Although we would be glad to see the differences between Poland and Germany amicably settled by discussion, as we think that they could and should be so settled, if an attempt were made to change the situation by force in such a way as to threaten Polish independence, why, then that would inevitably start a general conflagration in which this country would be involved."

CHALLENGE TO HITLER

The prime minister spoke to a meeting of women members of the Conservative party in Albert Hall shortly after Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax had received Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky in a new effort to smooth out Russian-British negotiations for an alliance.

Chamberlain's hearers cheered him to the echo when he issued what was tantamount to a challenge to Chancellor Hitler to make known where he stands on the question of peace or war. He said:

"Maybe the Nazi leaders have no such ambition (to dominate the world). If that is so, then Germany has nothing to fear from British policy.

"It has never entered our thoughts to isolate Germany, and still less to plan some combina-

Coal Famine Perils Boston Plants; Train Service Curtailed

Widespread shutdowns of major industrial concerns and drastic curtailments of railroad service threatened New England today as coal supplies ran low because of the bituminous industry's labor deadlock.

Acute shortages were reported by factories in all eastern states, and alarm grew today with the failure of attempts in New York to effect a truce between 460,000 CIO miners and mine operators.

Starting tomorrow, the Boston and Albany railroad will cut at least 20 commuter trains, most of which run through the Newtons to Worcester, according to E. E. Pierce, general passenger agent.

All Sunday trains on the Highland branch will also be suspended.

The New Haven road reported its fuel supplies will last 20 days more, and the Boston and Maine line said it possessed enough fuel to operate until June 15, although curtailments of B. & M. service may be necessitated after May 21.

PLANTS THREATENED

Officers of the New England Coal and Coke Co., largest bituminous coal distributing firm in New England, predicted industrial shutdowns, particularly in small plants.

They declared the coal situation here is "drastic," and said their own reserve supply of soft coal is practically exhausted.

"The situation is growing more critical daily," one officer said. "It won't be long before many firms must pull their fires and shut up shop. That will mean that thousands of workers will be idle."

Boston City Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital officials were unworried yesterday, as both these institutions use oil fuel. The Carney Hospital, however, reported itself dependent for a weekly coal supply on the ability of Boston dealers to fill a regular order today.

350 CARS TAGGED

FRAMINGHAM, May 11—More than 350 automobile drivers were tagged here today, in an unprecedented police drive against speeding and parking law violators.

F. R. PLANS NEW COAL WAR MOVE

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—White House Secretary Stephen Early said today President Roosevelt was considering further steps in the soft coal shutdown controversy but would take no action as long as the operators and miners' representatives continued negotiations.

Early said "some steps" were being considered for resumption of mining, but there was no elaboration. He noted that the deadline set by the President for an agreement for reopening the mines had gone by, but said the Chief Executive "in hope and tolerance," was still waiting for the final results of the negotiations.

Individual Contracts Sought in Coal War

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—John L. Lewis today dispatched telegrams of instructions to union leaders in outlying districts in the soft coal mining region to sign new contracts with operators, and, when that is accomplished, to "arrange for forthwith operation of the mines."

Lewis' order came after a Federal government proposal of individual contracts was presented by Dr. John R. Steelman, ace Federal mediator, after expiration of the 24-hour deadline for settlement set Tuesday by President Roosevelt.

About 126,000 miners employed in

FOG HALTS KING'S SHIP OFF CANADA

ABOARD EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 11 (Canadian Press)—Dense fog compelled the Empress of Australia, carrying King George VI and Queen Elizabeth for a tour of Canada and the United States, to heave to today 350 miles off Cape Race, most easterly point of Newfoundland.

The liner ran into the fog bank at 5 a. m. (E. S. T.).

For a time the Empress and her convoy, the cruisers Southampton and Glasgow, proceeded at slow speed, but as the fog became denser they were forced to stop altogether.

No fear was held, however, that the scheduled arrival of the royal party at Quebec next Monday morning would be delayed. The ship's schedule was drawn to allow two days' leeway.

So thick was the fog that those aboard the Empress were unable to see the escort cruisers a short distance away. Their sirens could be heard, however, punctuated at frequent intervals by the liner's own whistle.

In clearer weather yesterday King George watched a mid-Atlantic anti-aircraft demonstration apparently with great interest.

Gunners on the cruiser Southampton fired a smoke shell which left a black cloud-like screen high in the sky. Anti-aircraft batteries peppered it with shots, their white puffs against the black indicating hits.

Republican Senator Calls Backus 'Honest Critic' of Governor

John H. Backus, director of the "blue sky" division, in criticizing Governor Saltonstall for attempting to abolish the division "presented a very able and honest argument."

This was testified today at the Backus ouster hearing before the Public Utilities Commission by Senator Cornelius Haley, Rowley Republican and Senate chairman of the legislative committee on state administration.

It was before this committee that Backus allegedly made statements for which the governor now

Paul Curley's Wife Ready to Seek Divorce

Reports from Miami, Fla., that Mrs. Paul Curley, the former Lillia Duval, Broadway stage beauty, and daughter-in-law of former Governor James M. Curley, intends to file suit there for divorce were met today by her husband with the flat statement that he is "not surprised."

"I was rather expecting something like that," said the 25-year-old son of the former governor, "but the least said about it the better, at this time."

He disclosed that Mrs. Curley left Boston last February for Florida, where she has been living ever since.

SURPRISE ROMANCE

"I don't know what her story is," he added, "but I hope we will come to an amicable agreement, somehow.

"I was rather expecting something like this."

Young Curley's marriage in New York on Christmas day, 1936, came as a complete surprise to his friends in Boston, though they had known that he was interested in the lovely Mis Duval, then dancing in a Broadway night club.

Young Curley met the dancer while he was a student at Georgetown University.

GAVE UP STAGE

The girl went to New York five years before from Swaynesboro, Ga., changing her name for professional purposes from Marie Phillips to Lillian Duval.

The couple was married in Holy Cross Church, New York city, with the bridegroom's brother, Leo, as best man.

Miss Duval was known while she was dancing as one of Broadway's most striking beauties. She made her home in New York with her mother, returning tot he family home in Georgia between seasons.

After the marriage, she gave up the stage, and came to Boston to live.

Medford Man Drops Dead on Street Car

Harold J. Boyd, 49, of Cottage Park, Medford, special delivery messenger at the Back Bay annex post office, dropped dead in a street car today on his way to work.

Boyd's body was taken from the car at Salem street and Fellaway West, Medford. He had been employed by the Post Office Department for nine years.

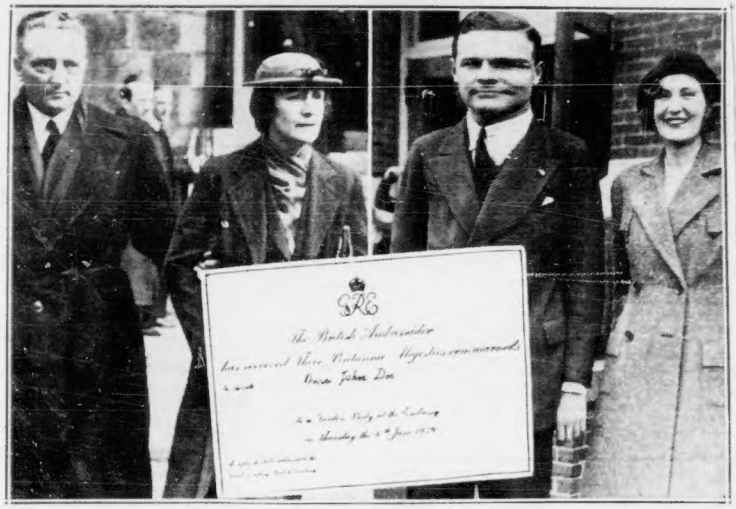
Hub Society Left Out of King's Party

It suits the King and Queen of Great Britain to meet mainly capital and diplomatic officials, and few of Boston's society leaders wl attend the already famous garden party scheduled at the British Embassy in Washington, June 8, it was reveiled today.



HONORED with invitations to the lawn party Mrs. Ronald Lindsay, wife of the British ambassador to U. S., will put on in Washington for King George and Queen Elizabeth, will be Admiral and Mrs. Richard E. Byrd, left, and Senator and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., right. In inset is facsimile of invitation to the affair. Boston Evening American Photos

The news disappointed a dozen other social centers, as it was announced by the hostess for the royal couple, Lady Lindsay, wife of the retiring British ambassador. She has not made public her guest list.

Heading the Boston delegations, however, will be three couples well known to the public prominent in the upper strata of international society — Rear Admiral and Mrs. Richard E. Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, U. S. Senator and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge.

Bayard Tuckerman

Others expected to be in Boston contingent of guests will be John Roosevelt, son of the President, and his young bride; Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter and Mrs. Frankfurter and Eleanor Roosevelt, niece of the First Lady. Miss Roosevelt may not attend because of the recent death of her brother in a flying accident, it was said.

Noticeably left out, according to authorative sources, are many members of Hub society who have made their curtsey at the Court of St. James in years past.

When the Duke of Windsor visited America in the early 1920's as the Prince of Wales, he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman of Hamilton.

The official invitation is a conventional engraved white card on which is mounted the King's personal crest in gold and the initials GRE under a crown of gold. G is for George, R for Rex and E for Elizabeth.

Nearly 1300 guests have been tendered invitations, Lady Lindsay announced.

DUST STORM CLOUDS HUB, CUTS SUNSHINE, VISIBILITY

Boston was visited by a dust storm from the Mid-West today—exactly five years to the day from a similar storm in 1934.

Sunlight intensity and visibility were cut down considerably, it was reported by Professor Charles F. Brooks, director of the Blue Hill Meteorogical Observatory of Harvard University.

Professor Brooks said that at 9 o'clock the visibility from Blue Hill was only five miles, compared with the usual range of 45 miles. The intensity of sunlight, he said, was cut down one-half from the record of yesterday, a typically clear May day.

The dust is apparently coming from the Middle West, and the storm in this area probably began some time between 7 and 8 a. m., when there was a shift of wind from the southwest to the west, Dr. Brooks said.

There was another dust storm, of less intensity, on April 24 this year, Dr. Brooks said. On that day the visibility was cut to 10 miles from Blue Hill.

The storm five years ago was very intense, reducing visibility to one and one-half miles, and cutting sunlight to one-fifth normal intensity. The 1934 storm began early in the morning and lasted until about 6 p. m.

The weather bureau stated that today's storm probably would continue into tonight, but that th cloudy effect would have no bearing on the temperature, which was unseasonably low. Frost was predicted in exposed places in the north and central portions of New England tonight.

Wanted Luxuries For Babies, Mother In Mail Plot Says

She just couldn't bear to see her four children "always going without everything."

So Mrs. Marion Dempsey, 26, of High street, Malden, decided she'd "get those babies nice clothes, toys and a few little luxuries, no matter what happened."

And that was why she flouted U. S. postoffice regulations, obtained other women's mail and brazenly juggled department store charge accounts to the extent of several hundred dollars, she told the Boston Evening American today.

Federal officers arrested Mrs. Dempsey, charging her with fraud and deceit against the postal department.

FREED ON BAIL

They said the scheme she had evolved was one of the most ingenious they had ever encountered.

Held in personal recognizance in the sum of $500 for appearance before a federal grand jury, the Malden mother was free today and home with her three surviving children, her elderly parents and her harrassed and worried husband.

He is Lawrence Dempsey, part time worker in a Boston club.

The fourth child of the Dempseys died a month ago, leaving the mother near collapse from grief and nervous strain.

Brown-haired, blue-eyed, neatly clad, but white-faced and shaky, Mrs. Dempsey today said:

"I don't know what got into me. But I guess I just brooded over my troubles until I lost my common sense and good judgment.

WANTED LUXURIES

"I just couldn't bear it to see the children always going without everything. The future looked black and hopeless.

"I decided to get those babies nice clothes, toys and a few little luxuries, no matter what happened.

"I got the idea of what I did from a detective story magazine. After that I learned the names of two women with charge accounts in first class Boston stores, I had their mail diverted to me by giving the postoffice what were supposed to be changes of address.

"What I did then has all been told in the papers. I cashed a check for $75 and ran up charge accounts.

"Now I'm glad it's all over. I'm glad I got caught and had a chance to make restitution.

"I tried to do a right thing in a wrong way. And I've brought shame and disgrace on everybody near and dear to me.

AT WITS END

"My only excuse is the fact that I was in bad health and almost at my wit's end with nerves.

"I ought to have known I couldn't get away with such a crazy stunt. I guess I really did know it. But I didn't care. Not at first. Then later I was remorseful. I never had an easy moment. I was tortured day and night by my conscience.

"Whatever penalty I have to pay, I'll try to face bravely. But I hope I'll be able to come home and take care of my three remaining daughters. I also take care of my sister's two small children. And my parents are getting old. They need care, too."

According to Assistant United States Attorney Jackson J. Holtz, who presented the government's case against Mrs. Dempsey, she was trapped through her use of an identification card issued by a women's social organization.

She showed the card, properly made out in her own name, in obtaining credit at a New York hotel, Holtz said. Later, she erased her name and substituted another, that of a Brookline woman whose charge account she was allegedly "pirating."

Her other alleged victim was a Watertown woman. In both instances Mrs. Dempsey obtained mail addressed to the other women and used inclosed identification, Holtz said.

The three surviving Dempsey children are Martha, four, Beverly, two and a half, and Martha Carol, 16 months.

"FOR THEM"—So these little girls, Marjorie and Beverley Dempsey of High street, Malden, might have "nice things," their mother, Mrs. Marion Dempsey, 26, flouted postoffice regulations and used other women's charge accounts at Boston stores, she admitted today. Federal charges are pending against her.

Patriarca Trip Held Illegal

Raymond Patriarca, former state prison convict pardoned under parole conditions by Governor Hurley and the executive council, was revealed today as having left Massachusetts unlawfully to take up his present residence in Miami, Fla.

Illegal status of Patriarca in Florida was bared by Attorney General Paul A. Dever, in connection with plans being made to bring the freed convict back here to testify before the legislative commission newly organized to probe the so-called "pardon and parole racket."

The attorney-general said he informed Parole Board Chairman Ralph Robart on April 6 that Patriarca had no right to leave Massachusetts without concurrent permission of the parole board and Commissioner of Correction Arthur T. Lyman.

After Patriarca's secret marriage to Miss Helen Mandella, Boston nurse and sister of one of Governor Saltonstall's messengers, Commission of Corrections Lyman did give his permission for the Miami trip, Attorney General Dever said.

FEAR 8 MEN DEAD IN CHICAGO BLAZE

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—An explosion and fire levelled a mammoth South Side grain elevator today, in which firemen feared eight or more men were killed.

The flames then spread to four neighboring elevators and enveloped a quarter square mile in blazing heat.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan said it was the largest fire in Chicago since the $8,000,000 conflagration at the stockyards, May 19, 1934.

Five firemen and four other men, two hurt seriously, were taken to hospitals.

Preliminary estimates placed the loss to grain and properties at well above $1,000,000.

PITTSBURG, May 11 (AP)—Sixty-two Carrick high school seniors hereafter will read petitions before they sign them.

Kathryn Jane Antiss and Gladys Kautz, students, drew up a paper headed "A Petition for the Elimination of Human Guidance Programs." It contained six or seven paragraprs of multi-syllabled words.

The 62 signing seniors learned to their "embarrassment they actually had asked school officials for guns so students could shoot themselves and thus eliminate "week-end guidance programs."

Sponsors of the petition explained they were just teaching their classmates a lesson because they were "pretty sick of human gullibility."

CIO Dispute Closes Portland, Ore., Port

PORTLAND, Ore., May 11 (AP)—Portland's waterfront, crowded with more than 20 vessels, was ordered shut down today by the Waterfront Employers Association in a dispute with CIO longshoremen.

The closure, leaving 1500 men idle, was ordered because members of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union refused to work the freighter William Luckenbach, picketed last week by the CIO Maritime Office Workers' Union.

MERCY KILLING UP TO JURY

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—The case of Louis Greenfield, Bronx business man who testified God bade him chloroform his imbecile son, Jerome, 169, may reach a jury before nightfall.

The 45-year-old "mercy killer," accused of manslaughter, faces a possible maximum prison term of 20 years if convicted.

Defense and prosecution have rested, and summations and the judge's charges were expected to be completed during the day.

Women spectators wept as Greenfield, sobbing, told how on January 12 he put to death the six-foot boy with an infant's mind, "whom I loved more than anything else in the world."

Previous defense witnesses described the care and money lavished by the parents in an attempt to make Jerome comfortable. A defense psychiatrist said the boy, fully developed physically but without any control over instincts, had become a potential danger to the mother, Mrs. Anna Greenfield.

She, too, took the stand in her husband's behalf.

O'Brien Motion Ask Acquittal

Former Mayor James M. O'Brien was illegally convicted of embezzlement from the city of Revere because "embezzlement is a crime not now known to the law," it was asserted today in a motion filed in his behalf in Superior Court.

Last week the former mayor was acquitted of larceny charges but was found guilty on one count of embezzling more than 13,000 while he was Revere city treasurer.

His attorney, James P. Brennan, filed with Judge Lewis H. Goldberg today a motion in arrest of judgment, to be heard next Tuesday at the time of hearing a motion for a new trial and when disposition of the case is expected.

The new motion is based also on the contention that the offense of embezzlement, as charged under the statutes today, is now merged in the crime of larceny and therefore, being found not guilty of larceny, this verdict also amounts to an aquittal of the offence of embezzlement.

"MERCY SLAYER," COUNSEL—Near collapse, his face in his hands, is Louis Greenfield, New York manslaughter trial defendant. He chloroformed his imbecile son, 17. Attorney Samuel Leibowitz, defending Greenfield, is consoling him. Case was due to go to the jury today.

Snite Set for Trip to Shrine

MIAMI BEACH, May 11—Fred B. Snite, Jr., smiling victim of infantile paralysis, today lifted his hopes for a cure beyond the ken of medical specialists who have kept him alive in his affliction for more than three years.

On Sunday young Snite, with more than 10,000 miles of travel behind him, encased in an "iron lung" will start a pilgrimage to the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes in Southern France.

He will be accompanied by members of his family and by the prayers of thousands of well wishers throughout the world.

Passage has been engaged on the liner Normandie sailing from New York Tuesday. In France young Snite, his iron lung and attendants will travel in an auto trailer to the famous shrine where many miracles of cure have been reported.

Coincidental with the Snite family's preparations for their journey of faith came the declaration of a famous psychiatrist that "when medical science learns the secret of the Shrine at Lourdes, it can be used to advantage in sick rooms the world over."

Dr. Smiley Blanton of New York told 1500 delegates to the American Psychiatric Association's annual meeting in Chicago:

"We believe that something does occur at Lourdes that is on the margin of the law of nature. It is not supernatural, in our sense of the word, but it follows some law of function not yet described.

"We think we are justified in tentatively stating a belief from what we saw at Lourdes that processes leading in the direction of death were not only halted but reversed!"

But there's no reference to the laws of nature in the burning hope of young Fred Snite. It's a matter of faith entirely.

Trace Jail Fire To Trusty's Cell

WORCESTER, May 11—Possibility that the carelessness of an inmate who had been recently imbibing might have caused the Worcester county jail fire, which took three lives, was hinted today at the inquest on the bodies of three prisoners who died in their cells.

George Walley, prison trusty, testified he had taken 50 cents from John Raskett, one of the victims, to buy a pint of liuor. The fire was found to have started in Raskett's padded cell.

While fire department officials believe that prisoners and matches were responsible for the fire, Detective George O. Mansfield, who investigated the tragedy, still stuck to his contention that defective wiring was to blame.

Tech Teacher Found Shot To Death in Fenway Home

With a bullet in his head and his forefinger still gripping the trigger of a .22-caliber rifle, Horace Elmer Hall, brilliant young M. I. T. engineering instructor, was found dead in his bed today at his apartment in the Fenway.

Police said the teacher, absent for about a week from classes on sick leave, had apparently been dead for several days.

A janitor, who said he had not seen Hall around the apartment building since Saturday, found the body, clad only in a suit of underwear. The janitor had entered the apartment to put on window screens.

There was a single bullet wound under the chin, and the instructor had held his clutch on the rifle in death.

At M. I. T., authorities said Hall had been brooding over the illness of his wife, Evelyn, who had been away for six weeks, staying near the Pittsburgh home of her mother, Mrs. H. F. Kropp.

A letter from Mrs. Kropp containing news of her daughter was found at the bedside by police.

Hall took a leave of absence from his classes about a week ago, Institute officials said. He was known at M. I. T. as an unusually able and popular instructor, they added. He had been teaching mechanical engineering there since 1934, having come to Boston from the University of Maine.

Born in Stanglo, Wash., in 1905, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, the instructor was graduated from Washington State College in 1928, receiving his Master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1930, and was made a Doctor of Science by M. I. T. in 1937.

Hall had lived in the Fenway apartment for three years, the janitor said. He had no children.

Hultman Pins Blame on Hurley

Former Governor Hurley instructed him to hire an out of state engineer for the $22,000,000 Quabbin reservoir project on a six per cent commission basis, Metropolitan District Commission Chairman Eugene C. Hultman said today at a hearing of the House committee on rules.

The hearing is being held on an order introduced by Rep. Albert E. Morris of Everett to investigate the number of out-of-state engineers employed by the commission. Morris charged that many Brown University graduates received employment from the commission.

"Girl About Town" comments on Boston events and people.

Parents Lose, Two Wait 'New Mother'

CHILDREN TAKEN

A small Roxbury girl and her brother were awaiting a foster-mother today after Judge John V. Mahoney of Suffolk Probate Court had declared neither of the parents entitled to their care.

The children are Dorothea Kaltsos, 10, and Angelo, 8. Their divorced mother, Mrs. Rita Kaltsos of Commonwealth avenue, Brighton, had brought a petition for their custody.

The court announced a foster-mother would be named after a conference with child welfare experts.

Mrs. Kaltsos had testified that her former husband had established the children in a home where they were forced to take care of an 88-year-old woman and her four dogs.

She also testified that later the children were boarded in a Roxbury home, in charge of a drunken woman, and that they were later removed from this home after she had made a complaint to the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Judge Mahoney, in his ruling, said that during the coming week he would ask the Children's Aid Society and the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children to select a foster-mother for the children.

LOSER—John Kaltsos of Walnut street, Roxbury, shown with his two children, Angelo and Dorothy, who contested his wife's custody petition, lost out, but so did his wife. Court ruled neither is entitled to children. A foster-mother will be appointed.

"I have talked with both children," Judge Mahoney said, "and they say they prefer to be with their father. But I don't know. These children must be protected.

"I am a bit old-fashioned. I am of the opinion that unless there is something wrong with the mother, she should be favored in a question of custody. But this mother is not in a position to take care of her children because she works every day."

NAZI AIR LINE BANNED

BERLIN, May 11 (AP) — The German Airways Corporation, Deutsche Lufthansa, has been unable to obtain a permit from the United States and for "political reasons" is unable to open a transatlantic service to North America, the company's business report for 1938 disclosed today.

More Jobless Seek UCC Cash

Jobless Bostonians seeking unemployment compensation increased on an average by 612 per day last month, a report of the division of unemployment compensation showed today.

During March 36,484 persons filed claims, but the figures for April jumped to 49,079, an increase of 12,595, according to Director J. Edwin Doyle.

The amount of benefits paid, however, dropped from $1,886,148 in March to $1,526,507 for April. The increase brought by the new claims will not be felt until May, Doyle said.

GRAIN ELEVATOR BLAST

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—An explosion and fire ravaged a large grain elevator on the South Side today, injuring several workmen and bringing all police squads and fire apparatus in the area.

Shipping Warned Of Gun Testing

Col. Monte J. Hickok, commander of the Boston harbor defenses, announced bad news for shipping and harbor residents beginning today and continuing through May 27.

Daily tests of anti-aircraft guns will be made at Fort Standish and Lovel's Island, beginning today and shipping was warned to respect danger zones.

U.S. SOLONS BACK WINDSOR WARNING

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 11 National leaders in Washington [illegible] warning of the Duke of Windsor against war propaganda [illegible]

"to poison the minds of the peoples of the world."

[illegible]

Americans ought not to need [illegible] warnings concerning danger of propaganda for war. Our experience of some 20 years ago ought to [illegible] ample warning if we needed warning. Then we had it from a very splendid source a few days ago when the Duke of Windsor spoke so concretely against propaganda for war.

PEACE AIDS

Americans will do well to closely analyze every move that develops which might lead to war. There will be much effort to cause us to see how great is the challenge to peace by reason of this and that cause.

"We, in turn, need only to remember that our great cause of American democracy needs peace—complete freedom from the wars and hates and jealousies of other nations."

[illegible]

The poison of war propaganda has been spreading again during recent months. It is the same method of arousing prejudice, hatred and emotion that involved us in the World War. The Duke of Windsor is right when he says that propaganda is an institution to trouble which must be avoided by all those who desire to avoid war."

[illegible]

The only safety for democracy is for the individual citizen to put a question mark behind everything he reads and everything he hears in a time of world hysteria like the present.

There is no law or simple device which can protect us from propaganda. Each individual must ground himself. As the Bible says, "[illegible]"

The Duke of Windsor gives us a sound warning out of his own experience.

[illegible]

"The Duke of Windsor made a great speech in the cause of peace. It was timely and I believe effective. The time has come for all of us to insist that this pernicious propaganda designed to get us into the war now brewing must end, as the Duke of Windsor says from whatever source it comes."

Britain Warns Hitler Again

[illegible] war against her.

"Any such suggestion is simply fantastic and is not believed anywhere outside of Germany.

RUSSIANS INSIST ON OWN SECURITY

MOSCOW, May 11 (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia declared today British security proposals were utterly unacceptable in their present form and said Soviet Russia insisted on formation of "a united front of mutual assistance" by Britain, France, Russia and Poland, or at least by the first three.

The editorial was [illegible] indication of the Kremlin's attitude.

[illegible]

"We are told that by defending Poland and Rumania, Great Britain and France would be defending the western frontiers of the U.S.S.R. That is not true. The western frontier of the U.S.S.R. is not confined to Poland and Rumania [illegible]

"Not having a pact of mutual assistance with Great Britain and France, or with Poland, the U.S.S.R. is (asked) to undertake to assist all these states without receiving any assistance for them.

"In his statement in Commons on May 10 Chamberlain spoke of collaboration, of an alliance with the U.S.S.R., but collaboration implies reciprocity as its natural basis. Where there is no reciprocity real collaboration can not be brought about."

Few Weeks' Peace Assurance to Pope

VATICAN CITY, May 11 (AP) A lessening of tension in the immediate European situation and an optimistic outlook for the future were reported by diplomatic observers today to have been disclosed by Pope Pius' moves to achieve a peaceful settlement of most threatening problems.

The Pope's overtures for peace were made through papal nuncios to delegates in Berlin, Warsaw, Paris, London and Rome.

The Holy Father's representatives were reported to have advised the Pontiff Europe would remain peaceful during the next few weeks.

They also were said to have been optimistic forecasts of the possibilities of a lessening of tension and a settlement of potentially dangerous problems, including the German-Polish dispute over Danzig and Danzig claims for control from France.

ENCYCLICAL LIKELY

It was believed, however, in order to create further the peace sentiment, especially in Europe, the Pontiff might issue an encyclical urging the world to pray and work for peace.

Diplomatic observers, speaking unofficially, look for the Vatican peace drive to follow the line of the following the entry of President Roosevelt's peace proposals of April 14 had been sent to Hitler and Mussolini. Pope Pius was understood to have decided then and there to keep expressing the Vatican's concern over the manner in which Europe drifted into and was swept into the drifting world.

The Pope, it was reported, was most concerned over the dangerous situation as to the dispute between Germany and Poland and the possibilities of trouble from [illegible] claims against [illegible].

PEACE TO DICTATORS

Pope Pius XII was the Vatican's most trusted diplomat before he was elected to the papal throne. Then he started papal envoys [illegible] immediately with the assignment most vitally interested suggesting that the powers discuss Europe's entire disturbed [illegible] in search of an amicable settlement.

The papal Secretary Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, a major cog in the peace machinery thus set in motion, made an airplane journey to Berlin May 5 for a conference with Hitler.

Envoys of the Vatican from Paris, France, Germany, Italy and Poland also were understood to have made the suggestions to their governments and the Pope to have asked Cardinal Maglione [illegible]

Drivers Crazy?

Test Shows Many Are Looney, Lust to Run Over People

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP) - The belief of pedestrians that automobile drivers are crazy is partly true, Dr. Lowell S. Selling of Detroit and members of the American Psychiatric Association in convention here.

Psychiatric examinations of 500 traffic offenders in Detroit, he revealed, that 36 per cent were defective in intelligence and 64 per cent were of superior intelligence. The average of the group was the brain level which psychologists term "borderline."

More than 4 per cent of the violators were found mentally ill or suffered from psychoses sufficiently severe to require treatment, Dr. Selling declared.

One person investigated suffered from a compulsion to kill automobile drivers. Another had to exercise his whole mental control to resist the impulse to run over traffic policemen.

"It is important to public safety to catch the mentally ill drivers in examinations before the state hospital gets them," he remarked.

Deny Backus Plea to Drop Ouster

attempting to oust him from [illegible] job.

Before Senator Haley took the stand, the ousting commission unanimously voted to deny all three of Defense Counsel Joseph A. Sculli's motions to dismiss the governor's charges.

For the second time in two days Backus jumped up suddenly at the close of the hearing and added his voice to that of his counsel.

This time Backus startled the hearing by offering to resign "if the governor retains the personnel in my office."

It came when one witness was being questioned on an assertion that Backus was "biased" on the governor's recommendation to shut down [illegible]

New Charges [illegible] the title hearing [illegible] Sculpon[illegible] and Chairman Peter M. Meade of the Parole [illegible]

At one point Meade interrupted Sculponetti's questioning of Senator Haley, member of the commission, with the remark:

"Don't be so solicitous about the witnesses. You'll get your $7500 anyway."

Chairman Meade [illegible] had left the [illegible] May [illegible] Backus [illegible] Governor [illegible]

"HONEST ARGUMENT"

"In the main," said Senator Haley, "Mr. Backus argued that the Governor's recommendation was a step in the wrong direction; that it would not be in the best interests of the state."

"You would say," asked Sculponetti, "that Mr. Backus presented a very able and a very honest argument?"

"Yes," Haley replied.

Backus [illegible] "somewhat critical of the governor [illegible]

"And his criticism was the honest criticism of a member of a state department who regretted he had to differ with the governor?" asked Sculponetti.

"Yes, that is right," replied the senator.

DENIES BEING "HURT"

Q (by Commissioner Richard D. Grant)—Did you get the idea Backus was impeaching the integrity of the Governor? A—Well, not exactly. I got the idea he was either impeaching the integrity of the governor or he was insinuating the governor had no brains.

"Weren't you hurt to the quick when Harcourt Amory's name was mentioned?" Sculponetti asked Senator Sears.

"No," replied the senator curtly.

Q—You couldn't stand it? A—I can stand almost anything.

Q—Well, you know Amory socially? A—I know his first name when I see him on the street the way I hope I'll know yours when you are through."

"I can see why you were elected to the Senate," commented the lawyer.

Q—Didn't he (Backus) show you letters from heads of district prosecutors, from heads of departments of other states, and from Ambassador Joseph Kennedy in England, stating that Governor Saltonstall's stand on this matter was wrong? A—I didn't see them.

[illegible]

CLASHES WITH SEARS

[illegible]

"Well," demanded Sculponetti, "how could you have voted on that matter that was being discussed before you if you didn't know even the fundamentals?"

"I would find out," replied Sears, nervously twisting a paper in his hands.

Q—From Harcourt Amory? A—No.

Q—You above all men created this furore; why wouldn't you go to Amory? A—Well I wouldn't have the time.

Q—You wouldn't have time to look into this most important legislation protecting billions of dollars? A—I would refer to this commission.

Q—What about Backus? He was there. He's an expert? A—I thought he was biased.

GRANT OFFERS AID

Q—Then he never had a chance? You made up your mind in advance? You made up your mind in advance? A—No. I came to that conclusion after he testified.

Q—But you didn't know what the stuff was all about? A—No. [illegible]

THE DUKE OF WIND[SOR] speaks from the Flanders Field [illegible] that Great War and calling [illegible] for peace instead of [illegible] war.

'Among the things that I feel might well be adopted to this end is the discouragement of all that propaganda, which, from whatever source it comes, tends to poison the minds of the people of the world.

"I personally deplore, for example, the use of such terms as encirclement and aggression. They can only arouse just those dangerous political passions that it should be the aim of all of us to subdue."

Britain barred this speech. Though the former king was using almost the identical words of the saintly Apostle of Peace, the late Pope Pius XI, the government controlled radio system tuned out his words and tuned in 'swing' music.

According to Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, whose veracity is unquestioned, Britain is also barring a book titled "Propaganda in the Next War," in which Englishmen brag about doing the very things Windsor condemns.

Extracts from this book, which London apparently considers too revealing for public consumption, quote Sidney Rogerson as saying, with the editorial approval of Captain Liddell Hart: Britain must, at any cost . . .

'It will behoove us (England) to manufacture what we can and press it everywhere we can—a task of making bricks without straw, at which we showed ourselves to excel in the last war."

A 1917 CARTOON
Why Britain Became Angry

Here the British speak of stopping another world war as a foreign commodity looks back with boastful affection on the "atrocity" campaign which proved so successful in 1917 and then looks ahead to the necessity of duplicating the hypocrisy in the immediate future.

If there could be any doubt concerning the country at which the propaganda bombardment will be aimed, the Rogers-Captain Hart book removes it with these words:

"In general the situation in the United States is more favorable to Great Britain than in 1914, in that the obvious centers of infection have been removed . . ."

Thousands therefore will ask: "HOW will England seek to inveigle America into fighting another war for her?"

Statistics shed light on the question. There are more than twelve thousand newspapers in the United States. They reach 265,815,821 persons. They are free to print the truth, AS THEY SEE IT. They are NOT under the Government's thumb.

Moreover they have [illegible] files which contain the hysteria provoking material shoveled upon this country two decades ago, as well as the admissions of fraud that followed the Armistice. With such evidence in their possession, FREE newspapers [illegible] will not be readily fooled again.

There are also 624 radio broadcasting stations in the United States. They communicate with 37,666,500 receiving "sets" in homes, public buildings and automobiles. They are privileged to speak the truth, but AT THEIR OWN RISK. They ARE under the Government's thumb and operate with restricted licenses, which Washington can revoke at any time.

As long as Administration's sympathies incline in their direction, the British and their allies, not excepting Soviet Russia, have unrestrained access to American air waves.

It is easier to change the mind of one President than to alter the opinions of twelve thousand newspapers and ten times that many publishers, editors and writers.

DUKE OF WINDSOR
Britain Heard "Swing"

Human Side of News -r- by EDWIN C. HILL

IT BEGINS to look as if this column has a bird reporter, covering the News [illegible] beat in the [illegible] manner of Walter Winchell or Louella Parsons. Or Vard H[illegible] Cary morning [illegible] to keep up with his bird kibitzing.

Today he turns in the news with a surprising [illegible] that the great [illegible] encountered decline in the value of the plumes for women's hats is now losing its [illegible] when [illegible] of New York [illegible] bring large families within sight of passing commuters trains and highway traffic.

This filching of the egrets feathers became a national issue around 20 years ago as angry bird-lovers swarmed down to Washington and demanded protective legislation. They got it and so here's one short-ender who won friends and influenced people.

OUR REPORTER, who combines philosophy with spot news, has been on the early morning shift, clocking birds for about 10 years. These days he's up and out in the swamps at 4.30 in the morning.

To cover bird conventions, routs, assemblies and kermeases, the dawn hour is the best spot on the hill. He wouldn't for the world tell you what swamp he's exploring, as some beautiful game birds are abroad now and it is just as well that the commuters, rushing by with their noses in their newspapers, shouldn't be reminded to look out of the window.

THE BLUE HERON
Loves the Abundant Life

All ornithologists, says our bird scout, are necessarily secretive and wouldn't turn in to the letters the news that certain fat upland plovers [illegible] during game birds, are nesting around New Jersey backwaters. But as they wouldn't tell you which backwater

THIS YEAR, there is a great harvest of wood ducks, including mallards, black ducks and wood ducks. The gangsters in the cast-iron [illegible] being particularly conspicuous and dangerous. There is also the constant hit for [illegible] Water nymphs swimp vaudevillians, who put on a marvelous twisting and whistling act.

There are many gallinules, snappy little fellows with red spots on their heads. There is also the uncommunicative Virginia rails, whose only song is a grunt—a secretive bird which slinks through the sedges and the reeds, following the prevailing Wall Street formula of non visibility.

Then there is the long-billed marsh hen, also shy, building a safe [illegible] in the cat-tails, the [illegible] blackbirds, of course, singing so noisily that they have become almost a public nuisance, and a dash of color is supplied by the small green and great-blue egrets.

Girl About Town -r- by MARJORIE McBRIDE

WHAT USED to be considered the "bad lands" under the sea . . . sharp ridges and deep valleys 100 miles off Boston . . . is no longer a "terrible unknown world to Eastern Steamship pilots.

By means of a "fathometer" soundings are now showing the mysterious formations and the each ridge and valley as an underseas landmark, thereby making a safer position even in the densest fog.

The [illegible] consists of an electric [illegible] which [illegible] the sea floor. The sound [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] back [illegible].

It gives a mental picture of the ship sailing over huge mountain peaks and deep canyons.

A great deal of historical research has gone into naming the prominent features.

NEWLY ARRIVED in Boston, a Beacon Hill mother sent her youngest daughter [illegible] to the [illegible] ing kindergarten. The little girl was told that she was too young to enter and sent back home.

"What happened?" the mother asked when the child returned crying.

FATHOMETER REDUCES HAZARDS AT SEA
Chief Officer Ernest O. Foster at S. S. Evangeline's Instrument

Political Parade -r- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 11 One of the most disturbing tendencies in Washington during the past six New Deal years has been the impatience with tried and proven formulas of government, and the reckless use of the short cut to a desired political objective.

When President Roosevelt was impatient to get a favorable report on a certain bill by the House Ways and Means Committee, he wrote directly to the chairman of the sub-committee instead of addressing Congress, as the Constitution requires—and asked that the bill to be reported, notwithstanding doubts as to its constitutionality which committee members might entertain.

Bureaucratic underlings drafted proposed laws "up town," and these were sent directly to Congressional committees, instead of the usual communications being addressed to both houses of the Congress.

NOW WE SEE the House Appropriations Committee refusing to make appropriations for certain naval bases on far Pacific Islands, despite the fact that such bases are provided for by recently enacted law, sponsored by the House Naval Affairs Committee.

SENATOR JOSH LEE
"Succeeds By Back Door"

And we behold members of the House Naval Committee, indignant at this use of power by the Appropriations Committee, threatening to have the appropriating power restored to the Naval Committee, from which it was taken—along with that of many other House committees—when the budget system was established in 1921, and a single Appropriations Committee established.

In the Senate another amazing short-cut has been taken. The Committee on Military Affairs suddenly reports out a war-time tax bill by Senator Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, imposing drastic compulsory bond purchases at 1 per cent per annum on virtually all the existing wealth of the nation.

It is a thinly disguised confiscate-the-wealth proposal. Lee is an ardent New Dealer. He is a member of the Military Committee, and by this back door procedure is getting the tax bill before the Senate.

This is, of course, highly irregular, a typical short cut to an objective.

UNDER the Constitution all bills for raising revenue must originate in the House of Representatives. This bulwark of American liberty is calmly ignored by the Senate New Dealers.

The Josh Lee Bill is pure crackpotism. The finance committee will turn it down, no doubt, in due time.

Yet here it is, rushed into a favored position by irregular methods.

Washington the new blue heaven of the iconoclast and nit-wit.

PROSECUTOR TRIES LEGION BUDDY

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 11.—Dudley Leigh, who organized the economic reform movement centering on Broadway, is adding another feature which will be exhibited at the World's Fair. Leigh has added a sound track. Daddy Moore, the veteran restaurateur, has been saddened by the thought that Father Duffy's statue on Broadway and 47th will commemorate a fight. Moore has started a fund to light the statue and has contributed $200. . . . Leon Greenfield, the second Jewish citizen of his son and Assistant District Attorney George Tyler, who is prosecuting the case, are members of the same American Legion Post. . . .

HELEN HAYES is relating of the research work she had done before appearing in Victoria Regina. She had heard that Queen Victoria spoke with a German accent and so Helen went to London and there succeeded in getting an audience before Princess Beatrice. "You knew Queen Victoria, Helen began. "Tell me, do you remember whether she spoke English with any trace of German accent?" . . . "Rrrrrubbish-louss," assured Princess Beatrice, jingling her RS in typical German fashion. "No membberrr of ourrr family everrrrr spoke like that."

ED WYNN took the set Kernan in the Worlds last this week and he'll were part of the famished groups whose appetites succeeded in finishing all the available food supply at the Fair grounds. After midnight they stopped at a hot dog stand and were asked to wait until a new supply arrived. They waited almost a half hour in vain. In the meantime Kernan asked his father: "How many hot dogs do we want—two or four?" . . . "2." Wynn advised, "better not spoil your breakfast."

ORSON WELLES tells me CBS signed him to star in a radio show when he demanded a real role for the first time, and nothing through the years would wean the funds of his production of Wickford Point. Welles decided when he was a child that girls were fascinating and he gave Judy Garland as Ariel. Peggy Mangan of the St. Louis Cardinals is trying his friends now that his team finally has evened the track of Dizzy Dean. "It's okay now, said Mangan. "We traded Dean—and the boys gave me a guitar."

HARRY SCHOENHAUS who was connected with Dixie Davis and who received a suspended sentence has found a job. He has received some money from Davis as part of the advance they got for their magazine articles. Mystery Film For Trans-Lux

Dead Men Tell No Tales, screen adaptation of Ethel Reed's novel, "Norwich Victims," is one of the most mystifying films to come out of England and will keep you guessing throughout the entire picture trying to solve the unusual mystery.

Heading the cast is Evelyn Waugh, author of "Night Must Fall," as a pitiable henpecked husband whose school is a series of near tragedies as all around him are living in the sinful atmosphere of a floating theater. Victor Saville directed the picture.

In addition to Evelyn Waugh, the cast includes Hugh Williams, last seen in "Wuthering Heights." "Dead Men Tell No Tales" will have its American premiere at the Trans-Lux Theater, starting today.

Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, those inseparable screen sweethearts, are having a temporary separation. They are a continent apart at Loew's State and Uptown screens this week. BARRY CALLS HUB 'TWIN TO DUBLIN'

By PEGGY DOYLE

If it weren't for the tea this might be Dublin instead of Boston. He says it's the people, so heartwarming friendliness and interest, here's Barry Fitzgerald of his native city.

[illegible] Wilbur [illegible] service of [illegible] comic artist, here and in New York, admits he gets a wave of homesick pride every time he wanders down the city's paved or cobbled streets.

Boston" he says, "is twin to Dublin and it's got me so nostalgic I want to rush home and see things about it I never saw before. I want to do Dublin like a tourist and I will just as soon as I have some free time."

QUAFFS HIS TEA

Player whose father and [illegible]

MUFFINS DELICIOUS

In New York the tea was made just as I like it. And the hot muffins, they were so delicious I used to try to convince [illegible] that scone for scone I got at least fresh ones of them, just greedily as I would relish I never could manage more than a half one. My they were darlin' muffins.

I'm disappointed and the fifth Irish comedian who has been acclaimed as the greatest today shook his head dolorously.

Here, the home of the Boston Tea Party, I had hoped for ambrosia. But so far the tea has been very disappointing. I guess I'll have to be teaching them how to make tea.

The water must be just brought to a boil NOT boiled which flattens it somehow. It must then be poured directly on the tea leaves which are in an earthenware teapot that has been heated up by pouring hot water into and out of it. And I'll have my tea free floating and not in one of those pesky bags."

[illegible] about the [illegible] performances in Dublin when the script called for it.

[illegible] years since I [illegible] to be [illegible] until 10 years ago.

"Until then, I kept my job in the government service. The other was just a side issue. Then Sean O'Casey was putting on a play in London. It interested me. I wanted to be in it. I couldn't have that and my government job so I chucked the latter and it's been acting ever since."

One Taste Will Tell You...

LIFT a cool, creamy-topped glass of Ruppert's to your lips . . . then taste it. Get that mellow smoothness? That's proof that it's aged right . . . Get that "clean" taste? That's because it's filtered to crystal-clarity. Get that full tangy flavor? That's proof that it's brewed right and blended right.

Just one taste will tell you that Ruppert's is the right beer for you.

Austen Lake:
Mental Mutterings On Off-Afternoon

CHICAGO, Ill., May 11—Nothing sets up such morbid broodings as an off day on a baseball tour—the open eye slumberers among the Red Sox lobby sitters, discarded clothes lying around the hotel room like the dead on a battlefield, the long, uncharted hallways, the tinkle of cracked ice as a bell-boy trundles a nickeled bucket elsewhere and the fumblings in the crannies of a vacant mind for an entertaining column topic.

AUSTEN LAKE

So this is a dream on paper, a series of mental mutterings about the Sox first swing around the West . . Tom Yawkey, the cash archangel of the Sox, listening to Bob Elson's broadcast of the Bees-Cubs game, hearing his club called the "Gold Sox" and irritably snapping a cuss. References to his uncounted wealth infuriates Tom, which is why, in late years, he has padlocked his purse . . .

Mose Grove, sprawling like the immutable figure of stern conscience, the glint of gray in his hair and the light of his intelligence dimmed down to a candle flicker. He gave up smoking after last year's attack of "vasomotor paralysis" and no longer sucks those long black cigars shaped like Roman candles.

Ted Williams, hatless and looking like a high school freshman, an expression of surprised wonder always on his face and cursed by the fidgets. He wanders through the big marble rotunda pausing to thumb the periodicals at the newsstand, jabbering his high pitched treble at the desk clerk and snapping the plunger of the bagatelle games, plagued by the youthful muscle-jerks. Kid autograph hounds being shooed from the foyer.

"This coming team will be the hardest to predict of any team I have coached at Boston University. It is going to be a green team with a lot of spirit.

"It must be remembered that the center of our line and our entire backfield was made up of seniors, last year and they must all be replaced. That is with the exception of right guard Walter Charles Tremens took over for Bolly Bernard when the big Cambridge boy was hurt early in the season and turned in several creditable performances.

"Right now it appears that Ray Needham, who has been Johnny Walker's understudy at center for the last two years, will be the pivot man, but he will have to be at his best to stand off the threat of Sid Michaels, Roxbury Memorial star of two years ago."

Hartnett Trying to Keep Cubs Going

Errors of Omission Fatal to Club

EVEN ALL OF Gabby Hartnett's weight was not sufficient ballast to keep the Cubs on the ground as they dropped the first game of their series with the Bees. Gabby made a strenuous effort to display all of his old fire, but he acted as if he were tired and a bit disgusted at the second grade playing of many men under his direction.

"The Cubs," said Dizzy, "haven't got much of a ball club. They will finish in the second division. I cannot understand how they ever managed to win the National League pennant last year."

Bad players are temperamental.

OVERWEIGHT DIZ AMAZES FRISCH WITH HIS SPEED

One of the saddest pictures in baseball, comparable to the passing of Babe Ruth and the waning of Lou Gehrig, is the passive part the great Dizzy Dean plays in floundering cause of the pennant defending Chicago Cubs.

While the $185,000 beauty insists "the old soup bone's as good as ever. I'll soon be in there winning," the fact still remains that Diz has yet to pitch to one official batter this season, and his future still remains doubtful.

The experts are still very much divided over Dean's possibilities. Some feel that he will continue to win games once he's in condition, but will depend on experience and knowledge of batters rather than ever again boasting the blinding speed which made him a terror.

Manager Gabby Hartnett must have his doubts, because he's shown no willingness to take a chance with him.

DIZZY FULL OF LIFE

Strangely Jerome J. is full of life, of optimism, and he's making up for his silence on the field of play by his noisy chatter on the bench.

"Sure I called Bill Stewart a this and that in New York the other day," he said. "That's because the umpiring in this league is putrid. But they threw me out of the park and they plastered a $25 fine on me, so it looks like they got the best of the bargain.

"Stewart jumped on me first when he called me a so-and-so. So I handed him some real flossy language. I went him one better. The only thing I forgot to tell him for my 25 bucks was that we'd ride him out of the league like Chicago rode him out of the Blackhawks. I thought of that too late."

At which point a box-seat fan took umbrance with the great one.

"Where'll you be this time next year, Dean?" he shouted at the big righthander. "You're all washed up."

JABBERS WITH FANS

"Yeh, you still come out and pay your $1.65 to see me, don't you?" he yelled back. "They all do. I still keep those turnstiles clicking, don't I?"

And then Diz invited the ever-growing gallery to an exhibition of his skill in front of the Cubs' dugout.

As Frankie Frisch, his old Cards boss looked on, Dean truly unlimbered. He amazed Fordham Frankie with his speed and his control, calling his pitches and telling Catcher Bob Garbark where to hold his mitt and then shooting them straight at the unwavering objective.

Frisch was visibly impressed.

"He's got far more speed than I ever thought he had left in him," said Frankie. "His control is perfect. He pitches a bit more side arm than before. But what he showed us here today would make you think he's got plenty of winning pitching left in him."

Dean looks big and fat. He appears pounds overweight. His face is fleshy, much more so than on previous visits. Hartnett opines that work will eventually bring him into shape.

Conn. Dooms Mutuel Betting

HARTFORD, Conn., May 11 (INS) — Pari-mutuel betting on horse and dog racing in Connecticut appeared to have taken another step into oblivion today.

The Finance Committee, which a week ago raised a racing bill in committee and voted a favorable 10 to 6 report, voted to reconsider the measure on a 7 to 4 vote.

Reconsideration was regarded as the result of pressure from the state administration and from "back home" against the measure.

Charles S. Johnson (R.) of Sherman, sponsor of the race bill, said he would introduce a bill calling for a state lottery, if the racing measure failed to pass.

FOXX PROFITS BY DAY OF REST GIVEN SOX

CHICAGO, May 11—The smallest possible fraction, retains for the Red Sox the league lead over the Yankee as the Boston club opens and closes today what is now to be a one-game series with the White Sox.

After all their hurry to get to Chicago and all the thought which went into the hiring of airplanes for the team's transportation to the Windy City, the opening scheduled game was called off.

The postponement was needless and the decision to call it off far too premature. Because while there was a bit of fog in the A. M. hours, the afternoon turned sparkling clear and ideal for baseball.

One who benefited from the day off was Jimmy Foxx, who has been and continues to be far from normal physical condition. Jimmy is afflicted with his annual sinus troubles, with a chest congestion and headaches, which, however, have failed to mar his brilliant batting achievements.

Today Woody Rich goes to the mound in the Sox third last game of the present road trip.

Tomorrow the Sox jump to Louisville for an exhibition with Donnie Bush's Sox farm hands and then on to Washington for three games with the Senators before arriving home for the opening invasion of the western clubs which is touched off by the appearance of the White Sox next Tuesday at Fenway Park.

Home Run Ruins Maine No-Hitter

ORONO, Me., May 11 (AP)—With a smoking fast ball that blinded Bowdoin's hard-hitting array, Paul Browne, right-hander, narrowly missed a no-hit game as he pitched Maine to a 3 to 2 12-inning victory over Bowdoin.

Red Sox Sign College Star

BATON ROUGE, La., May 11 (AP)—Walker Cress, senior baseball pitcher for the Louisiana State University baseball nine, said he had signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox and would report about May 25 to the Piedmont League farm at Rocky Mount, N. C.

Cress is 21, weighs 210 pounds and stands six feet, five inches. He hails from Ben Hur, Va., a right-hander, he won three games and lost one for L. S. U., claimant to the Southeastern Conference championship.

Vanderbilt Asks Impound To Lift Own Preakness Cup

BALTIMORE, May 11 (AP)—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, young president of the Maryland Jockey Club, sat in the clubhouse dining room at Pimlico this morning, scooped up the last forkful of scrambled eggs and said:

"This probably will be about the greatest Preakness ever run—and I'd rather get the cup than give it."

He was referring, of course, to the 49th running of the $50,000 added Preakness stakes here Saturday—a horse race which annually captures the fancy and frenzy of the thousands who follow the thoroughbreds.

And what he meant by his remark was that he hoped his colt, Impound, would win the race and its historic trophy, the Woodlawn Vase.

It is the club president's role to present this trophy to the victor's owner. To receive it himself would be quite a novelty.

Not in the sixty-six-year history of the Preakness has a Jockey Club president won the event.

Facing these odds and taking his horse racing seriously, Vanderbilt kept Impound out of the Kentucky Derby and pointed him for the Preakness.

JOHNSTOWN TO BEAT

Mulling over the situation at breakfast with Dave Wood, his right-hand man, Vanderbilt chased a butter-honey-and-toast tidbit with coffee and a cigarette and spoke of Impound.

"He has been working well here and looks as good as ever. There was no break in his conditioning when Trainer Bud Stotler was hurt in an automobile accident while we were at Havre de Grace.

"Lee McCoy took over the training without a pause in Impound's routine."

But what about Impound's chances in the Peakness? Is the stout-hearted stretch-runner good enough to beat William Woodward's Kentucky Derby winner, Johnstown, in the mile and three-sixteenths test?

"I hope so," Vanderbilt said.

What Johnstown will do against a field made up mostly of horses he didn't meet in the Derby is one of the angles that makes this Preakness loom as a "great" race—one that will test Johnstown's right to the title "king of the three-year-olds."

Just now it looks as if there are only seven sure starters: Johnstown and his running mate, Challenge; Impound, Wheatley stable's Gilded Knight, W. L. Brann's Challedon, Saratoga stable's Volitant, and King Ranch's Ciencia.

FITZ SUNNY

Of these, only one—Challedon—met Johnstown in the Derby. He ran second to the colt the turfwise are comparing to the great Man O' War, sire of War Admiral, the last to come down fresh from victory at Louisville and take the Preakness in stride.

Three others mentioned as possible starters are J. H. Whitney's Heather Broom and Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett—both beaten in the Derby—and Greentree Stable's Day Off, whipped this week by Gilded Knight.

The entire field represents class—a fact readily recognized by Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who saddled Johnstown for the Derby.

"If Johnstown wins the Preakness—and I think he will," Fitzsimmons said, "I still believe that the rest of the starting field would be a superior group of horses in any race and in any year."

Germany Out Of Winter Olympics

BERLIN, May 11 (AP)—Germany may not participate in the 1940 winter Olympics, it was revealed today in a letter sent by Reichs Sport Fuehrer Hans von Tschammer und Osten to the president of the organization committee for the winter games at St. Moritz.

Replying to an invitation forwarded to Germany by the Olympic committee, Von Tschammer said Germany could not decide at present to give an affirmative answer inasmuch as the importance of the winter games as Olympic competition had been reduced greatly through elimination of skiing.

Von Tschammer said the German committee will reconsider the invitation after the question of skiing has been definitely cleared.

* * *

As it now stands, skiing will be only an exhibition at the Olympics games.

The International Skiing Federation has insisted that its teachers be rated as amateurs and permitted to compete. The international Olympic committee has ruled teachers are professionals and in its stand is backed by several nations strong in the sport.

Huskies to Run At Springfield

Northeastern's varsity track squad has its final tune-up before the New England Intercollegiates tomorrow afternoon, when it meets Springfield at Springfield.

Frank Masciadica and Captain Miles are expected to lead the Huskies tomorrow, and both will compete in two events apiece.

WITTIG GONE

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Pitcher Johnny Wittig was sent to Jersey City in the International League on option by the New York Giants, reducing their roster to 26.

Pond Satisfied With Eli Practise

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 11 (AP)—Head Coach Ducky Pond, expressing himself as pleased at the turnout of sophomores, said several members of the Yale football squad "showed much promise" as spring practice ended with a scrimmage.

Pond said the practice, lasting a month, was one of the most successful held at this time of year. Gridiron workouts will resume Sept. 15 with the squad staying home this year instead of adjourning to Gales Ferry.
